

Recruitment of ex-offenders

Called To Teach Ltd's (CTT) Policy statement on the recruitment of ex-offenders

As an organization using The Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) to assess applicants' suitability for positions of trust, CTT fully complies with the DBS Code of Practice and undertakes to treat all applicants for positions fairly.

CTT undertakes not to discriminate unfairly against any subject of a disclosure on the basis of conviction or other information revealed.

CTT is committed to the fair treatment of its staff, potential staff or users of its services, regardless of race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, responsibilities for dependents, age, physical/mental disability or offending background.

CTT has a written policy on the recruitment of ex-offenders, which is made available to all disclosure applicants at the outset of the recruitment process.

CTT actively promotes equality of opportunity for all with the right mix of talent, skills and potential and welcomes applications from a wide range of candidates, including those with criminal records. We select all candidates for interview based on their skills, qualifications and experience.

A disclosure is only requested after a thorough risk assessment has indicated that one is both proportionate and relevant to the position concerned. For those positions where a disclosure is required, all application forms, job adverts and recruitment briefs will contain a statement that a disclosure will be requested in the event of the individual being offered the position.

Where a disclosure is to form part of the recruitment process, we encourage all applicants called for interview to provide details of their criminal record at an early stage in the application process. We request that this information is sent under separate, confidential cover, to a designated person within your local office, and we guarantee that this information will only be seen by those who need to see it as part of the recruitment process.

Unless the nature of the position allows CTT to ask questions about your entire criminal record, we only ask about 'unspent' convictions as defined in The Rehabilitations of offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) order 1975 (Amendment) (England and Wales) order 2016.

We ensure that all those in CTT who are involved in the recruitment process have been suitably trained to identify and assess the relevance and circumstances of offenses. We also ensure that they have received appropriate guidance and training in the relevant legislation relating to the employment of ex-offenders, e.g. The Rehabilitations of offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) order 1975 (Amendment) (England and Wales) order 2016.

At interview, or in a separate discussion, we ensure that an open and measured discussion takes place on the subject of any offenses or other matter that might be relevant to the position. Failure to reveal information that is directly relevant to the position sought could lead to withdrawal of an offer of employment.

We make every subject of a DBS disclosure aware of the existence of the DBS Code of Practice and make a copy available on request.

We undertake to discuss any matter revealed in a disclosure with the person seeking the position before withdrawing a conditional offer of employment.

Having a criminal record will not necessarily bar you from working with us. This will depend on the nature of the position and the circumstances and background of your offenses.